MORE TROUBLE FOR TALENT

FOUR FAVORITES MEET SIGNAL DEFEAT AT BENNINGS.

Winnie O'Connor Falls to Beat Blue Coat With Amberjack—Sperling Rides Rock-land and Payne to Victory—Preen Trims D'Arkie-James F. First in a Drive.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 .- Many of the regulars will feel relieved when the Bennings meeting is at an end, for again to-day form was a mystery with the defeat of four favor-ites. The weather was once more delightful and the crowd large, while the horses ran over a fast track once more. Winnie O'Con-nor, who rode successfully in France this year, turned up at the track and had the mount on Father Bill Daly's Amberjack, to 1, in the second race, for two-year-olds at five furlongs. O'Connor handled the colt in splendid style, but he was unable to overhau! Blu + Coat, the 2 to 1 favorite, who made every post a winner and took the race from Amberjack by a length and a half in 1:02. It was a tight fit for the rest of the money, Amberjack beating Yeoman, 5 to 1, a head, with Cederstrome and Uncas less than half a length behind.

There was a hard fall for the talent in the first race, for all ages at six and a half furlongs, when D Arkle was easily beaten by Preen. D'Arkle was hammered down to to 20, while Preen went up to 4 to 1. Preen made a runaway of it and won breezing by ave lengths, while D'Arkle, second from the outset, finished eight lengths before Diamond Flush, 30 to 1. The race was run Bohemia was the magnet for such heavy play that she was backed down to 4 to 5 favor ite in the third race, for two-year-old fillies and geldings, five furiongs. Campo, 5 to 1, made the pace for nearly half a mile, with Bohemia close behind and under restraint, but when Burns cut the favorite loose she came home an easy winner by a length and a half in 1:02 1-5. Campo stayed better than usual and secured place money from Queen Rose, 20 to 1, by three parts of a length. Novena and Critical were disappointments.

While the form players were making Silverfoot a favorite in the fourth race, for maidens three years old and over, at a mile, Rockland, running in the colors of "Mr. Ramsey, was quietly played all over the ring at 8 to 1. Sperling had the mount and Rockland got away from the post like a wild horse. showed a startling improvement over his previous race, but he was tiring near the end and had to be driven to win by a length and a half from Bobbie Keene a 15 to 1 shot. Silverfoot, who was sore going to the post, was a poor third. The mile was run in 1:43. H. T. Griffin cut loose Payne at 6 to 1 in the fifth race, for platers, at a mile and 40 yards, and Sperling landed another winher, for Payne made all the pace, and standing a heavy drive through the stretch won by a head from Willie Shields's Buttons, 2 to 1 favorite. Jack McGinnis's Brooklynite, backed down to 8 to 1, ran third, two lengths away. Coppelia ran a poor race The time was 1:45 1-5.

The time was 1:45 1-5.

Ostrich, an even money favorite, was evidently track sore in the last race, at a mile and an eighth, for he did not show his usual speed and finished third. Marjoram, 9 to 2, had a world of speed in the early stages and led up to the last furlong, where she began to back up. Then Shaw came on with James F, 5 to 2, who won in a drive by three parts of a length in 1:56. Marjoram beat Ostrich by a length and a half.

Sixth Race-Graziallo.....

There was a warm welcome in store for Danny Maher, the American jockey, who has been riding on the English racetracks this year, when he walked down the gangplank of the White Star steamship Cedric yesterday. Maher looked to be in perfect health and was evidently delighted to get back to his native country. He has been riding at 115 pounds, but now tips the beam at 135. He was wrapped up in an immense fur lined overcoat, which was a present from one of the leading owners in England just before he sailed. After shaking hands with his friends on the pier, including several well known trainers and bookmakers, Maher went to the Hoffman House, where he stayed several hours holding an informal reception Then he proceeded to quieter quarters uptown going to Hartford, Conn., to see his parents. Maher has had unusual success this year. He accepted 456 mounts and rode 116 winners, record which placed him third on the list of winning jockeys. Otto Madden was first, with 160 winners out of 700 mounts, while Jimmy Lone, another English jockey, was second, with 124 winners. When asked about his with 196 winners out of 700 mounts, while Jimmy Lane, another English jockey, was second, with 128 winners. When asked about his campaign he said:

"I had a splendid time and, as usual, I was royally treated, so much so that I shall go back in the spring. I have signed a contract to ride for Sir James Miller, who will have first call on my services. I do not care to state how much money I earned, but you can say that it was more than I earned in the other seasons that I have been on the other side.

"I think I have reason to feel proud of the fact that I rode the winners of the three. Ten Thousand Pounders, or $50,000 races, in England, which were the Princess of Wales Stakes, the Eclipse Stakes and the Jockey Club Stakes. I had the leg up on Rocksand when he won both the Princess of Wales and the Jockey Club, while I rode Darleydale to victory in the Eclipse. On three days in one week I rode twelve winners, which gave my percentage a fine boost."

When asked how much money in stakes and purses he had won for his employers, Maher said that he believed the amount was close to $400,000. The three big stakes alone," said he, "footed up $150,000, with 113 other winning mounts to make up the balance." Maher said that Pretty Polly, the champion three-year-old filly of England, was a phenomenal race mare, the best, in fact, that he had ever seen. He also stated that he felt keen disappointment in not winning the Grand Prix in Paris, but that his mount was left at the post. He said also that the English turf was more popular than ever and that the American style of riding was now prevalent at all British tracks.

JUDGE HIMES BEATS DE RESZKE.

JUDGE HIMES BEATS DE RESZKE. Reversal of Form at New Orleans Costly to the Talent.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 2.- The talent, and especially the New Orleans horsemen, re-ceived a setback this afternoon when De Reszke failed to finish among the first three horses in the mile handicap, which was the feature of the afternoon. De Reske, on the form that he has shown around New York during the fall, was made the favorite and was the heaviest backed choice of the afternoon. He failed to show any speed and finished a poor fifth. The winner turned up in Plunger Ellison's Judge Himes, who ran a poor race yesterday. Judge Himes had all the speed to-day and raced to the had all the speed to-day and raced to the front in the first quarter, and from that time on only galloped, winning by a length from Falernian, the extreme outsider in the betting. The biggert surprise of the afternoon was the victory of Fair Reveiler, 20 to 1, in the fifth race. Red Fox was the favorite, but ran as though short. The track was ankle deep in mud and the weather was against racing.

There was a lively G. Prall, '0) science. There was a lively contest for the assistant manager's place, which was won by George B. Norris, '07 college. A sort of Australian ballot was used for the first time and Norris polled 269 votes, against 193 for O. K. Doty, '07 science, his nearest competitor. William '05 college, were elected unanimously to be graduate directors of the football team next season.

INCIDENTS AT POULTRY SHOW

INSURANCE UNDERWRITERS RAID THE CHICKEN INCUBATORS.

Homing Pigeon Flight to Lakewood Produces a New Record-Accidental Fight Between Gameoocks Makes a Stir Silver Teasets Among Prizes Awarded

There was a raid, a cockfight and a pigeon race as side incidents yesterday at the show of the Poultry and Pet Stock Breeders' Asso ciation in Herald Square Hall, with the judging of cavies, rabbits and poultry specials as the regular order of business. There was no diminution in interest, and the show held an interested crowd of onlookers both day and evening.

The raid was said to be the first on record ordered by the Board of Insurance Underwriters on a city amusement place. When it was over the incubators were out of busiless, but fortunately all the brooders were stocked up with little chicks and there will be to corner in the midgets to-day. The interest of the insurance men was because, aside from the exhibition hall on the top floor, the re-mainder of the building is given up to a de-

On Monday morning the underwriters ordered the of Poultry and Pet Stock Breeders' Association to forbid the use of oil lamps or gas stoves in the incubators. No embargo, however, was laid on the use of electric heaters and by the aid of such appliances the eggs have been brought to the popping stage in the incubators. But yesterday afternoon the underwriters sent word that the electric heaters must also be banished and a squad of deputies in blue visited the incubators and saw that the exhibitiors paid heed to the order. The incubators, in some instances, were allowed to grow cold, which meant the spoiling of the hatches, but most of the exhibitors removed the trays of eggs and carried them out of the building warmly wrapped up in cotton batting.

There was quick action in the cockfight, which was an accidental one. J. H. Irwin, an exhibitor of pit games, had lodged a pro test against the awards made by the judge A. F. Pierce of Winchester, N. H., on the ground that his entries had not been fairly Derby red strain, and as handsome as the game fowls in an English old sporting print. He was particularly sore over the judging of birds, in which D. G. Hetfield's pyles had been placed first and second, Judge cornell's red pyle third and the Irwin brown red fourth.

In the interest of harmony, Dr. Paul Kyle president of the Poultry and Pet Stock Breeders' Association, talked the matter over with Mr. Irwin and finally induced him to withdraw the protest. While the argument was on, Dr. Kyle had taken out the two Hetfield roosters, and with one under either arm had pointed out various reasons to justify the ratings of the judge.

As Dr. Kyle turned to replace the birds his foot slipped, and in trying to save himself from a fall he allowed the two game cocks to escape. As soon as they touched the floor the game cocks sprang at each other like buildogs. They batted each other with their spurs and pecked for the eyes, all in a flash. There were feathers flying at once, but Mr. Irwin grabbed one of the birds and lifted it, while Dr. Kyle reached for the other one, but missed it. It darted off with a dozen fanciers in pursuit and presently the game cock was all this was happening, but he heard the news with equanimity. "They were only foolin'," was Hetfield's comment. "My birds wouldn't fight unless articles were signed, nohow. I was off selling some game cocks to Mrs. T. Carnegie. She has ordered me to ship 'em down to W. C. Carnegie, Jr., at Fernandina, Fla., where he owns an island.

Veteran Hetfield was not around while

Before the flight of the homing pigeons o the race to Lakewood the birds, eight in all. were held up in a basket and Dr. Kyle announced the conditions-that the pigeons were to try to beat the record of 1 hour 3 minutes on a flight from the hall to Carl Wentzlen's lofts at Lakewood, on a wager of $100 between the owner and C. W. Price of Vailsburg, N. J. Then all hands set off to the roof to see the start. Men, women and children climbed up the winding flights of iron stairs and gathered on the large, open roof in a large circle about the basket and the starting judges-Prof. Tripler of this city, Philander Williams of Taunton, Mass., and A. A. Parker of Dunel-len, N. J. len, N. J.

At 3:34 o'clock the judges opened the lid of the basket and the flock of blue pigeons darted out, heading toward Central Park, exactly the wrong direction for a New Jersey trip. There was no wind, but the haze in the atmosphere made the sun seem like a big copper disk.

Hanging together in a flock, the pigeons described a series of great circles as they opper disk.

Hanging together in a flock, the pigeons described a series of great circles as they mounted higher and higher toward the sky. Then, when high above Madison Square and circling toward the East River, all the birds made a sharp, quick turn and set off with the speed of an arrow and as straight toward New Jersey.

The spectators who had been watching the sprations of the flock with craning necks breathed sighs of satisfaction and there were cries of "They're off!"

"They are headed for the Jersey ferry," cried out a policeman in the crowd. "Faith, they know where the train starts from!"

It was 3:40 o'clock when the pigeons got their bearings, six minutes having been used up in the preliminary surveys. Then the spectators climbed down into the show hall again and the judges said that they expected later to hear by telegraph of the arrival of the birds at Lakewood.

The news flashed over the wire in the evening was that one bird, No. 17532, had reached the Lakewood loft in 1 hour and 29 minutes, the count being made from 3:34 o'clock. This was a new record, and Mr. Wentzlein won the $100. None of the others had arrived at the time of wiring. To-day there will be a similar race from the hall to a Rhode Island loft.

Various handsome silver tea sets, the gifts of the Poultry and Pet Stock Breeders for similar race from the hall to a Rhode Island loft.

Various handsome silver tea sets, the gifts of the Poultry and Pet Stock Breeders for the best displays in poultry breeds, were awarded in this order:

Brahmas, Philander Williams, Taunton, Mass.; Plymouth Rocks, Chapman and McQuillan, Hartford, Conn.; Wyandottes, Piser and Riddell, Shusian, N. Y.; Leghorns, Adam F. Noil, Allentown, Pa.; Minorcas, Riee Bros., Blauvelt, N. Y.; Ornamental Bantams, Dr. E. H. Witmer & Son, Neffsville, Pa.; game bantams, C. F. Cornman, Carlisle, Pa.; Turkeys, George Wolf, Sencea Falls, N. Y.

Something new among the pigeon breeds were four Carneaux birds, a new Antwerp-Homer cross imported from Belgium. They are a solid brown bird, nearly as large as runts, and are said to be great for squab raising. They were the show novelty with the pigeon fanciers.

Football Notes. BETHLEHEM, Pa., Dec. 2.—Paul Henry Herman of Baitimore was the unanimous choice of the Lealgh University students to day to captain next year's football eleven. He has Layed end on the teams for three years under Coach Newton and knows the game thoroughly.

ITHACA, Dec. 2.—J. H. Costello of Elmire, the big right tackle on the Cornell football team, was to nigat elected captain of the Cornell cleven for next season. Costello will be a senior in electric engineering next year. He was not in good shape for this season's work and consequently did not give so good an account of himself as in his first two years on the eleven. When in shape, however, he is one of the best line men Cornell has ever had, and at the same time is a popular leader.

HURLEY REELECTED CAPTAIN. Harvard Football Eleven Sidetrack Tradition in Favor of Popular Man.

CAMBRIDGE, Dec. 2.—The Harvard football eleven and the substitutes who won their "H's" in the Pennsylvania or Yale games, put tradition aside to-night and reelected Daniel J. Hurley, '05, of Charleston, Mass. captain of the Harvard football team fo 1905. Hurley will enter the medical school in the fail. The Harvard athletic committee will have to ratify the choice of the men before it is valid, but no interference is expected on the part of this body, as Hurley had no opposition in to-night's election. Further more the undergraduates are unanimously

It has been the custom for some years a Harvard not to elect a man captain of a var-sity team who when acting will be in a graduate department. In the fall of 1903, when Carl Marshall was elected football captain, Peter Bowditch would undoubtedly have been the choice had the men not been told been the choice had the men not been told that he could not accept the position on account of being in the law school. But there are also precedents, the other way. Joe Wiggin was elected captain of the baseball nine for 1893 when he was in the law school, and in the spring of 1900 Charile Sheafe, another law school man, was elected crew captain, though he later resigned on account of the pressure of work.

Hurley, who was reelected captain tonight, played right half back on the '05 freshman eleven, and the following fall was a varsity substitute. For the past two years he has been regular right half back, He was the unanimous choice for the captaincy last fall, and his playing this fall has won him the respect of every Harvard man. He showed by his fight, dash, fearlessness and spirit in the Yale game last month that he has the qualifications to lead the team again. Hurley is 22 years old, weighs 185 pounds and is 5 feet 2 inches tall. After the meeting Coach Wrightington talked over the Yale game with the men.

GRIM STAYS, AS USUAL.

Jack Blackburn Falls to Knock Out Man With the Iron Jaw. Joe Grim, the Italian with the iron jaw, fought Jack Blackburn lightweight, at Philadelphia on Thursday night last for six rounds. It was the same old story. Blackburn gave Grim a severe beating but was unable to put him to sleep. As usual Grim took a lot of punishment. Without this a boxing contest in which Grim was concerned would not be interesting. But Grim was not always the receiver-gen-eral. He did considerable fighting on his own hook. Grim went after Blackburn like an infuriated cat in the first round. He never gave the colored man a second and chased him around the ring with all sorts of chased him around the ring with all sorts of punches. Grim was equally as active in the second round, but he lost a lot of steam before the round ended.

From the third round on Grim had all he could do to protect himself. Blackburn laced the Italian unmeroifully. He landed swings, uppercuts, jabs, counters and hooks continually. Grim was forced to the ropes, staggered and hustled about like a human football. But, like Oliver Twist, he came back for more. In the fifth round Grim's face was a sight. The bleod streamed down his cheek from an ugly cut under the right eye. His lips were puffed up to twice their normal size and his face was dotted with lumps and bruises. Grim took all that was coming to him in the sixth. He accidentally hit Blackburn low and the negro renewed his efforts to stop Grim. He succeeded in making the latter tired, but failed to knock him of his pins.

READY FOR LONG GRIND. Cycle Track Finished in the Garden and Riders Here. Carpenters have been at work in Madiso Square Garden for a couple of days past, and vesterday the queer, saucer-like track of pine boards on which the six day race is to be run was practically completed and the men will be allowed to train on it to-day. All of the thirty-six riders entered for the week-long thirty-six riders entered for the week-long grind that begins a few minutes after Sunday midnight were in the city yesterday. The foreigners and a few others have been training at Manhattan Beach, others have been doing their work at Vailsburg, Boston and at tracks near their homes but they will all quit their outdoor work to-day and gather at Madison Square Garden to-night, when the usual preliminary programme of short races will be run off. There are several amateur and professional events on the programme for to-night and they have filled well. The feature of the card, however, is a paced race between Bobby Walthour and Hugh McLean.

Eddie Hanlon Bars Philadelphia From His List of Fighting Towns.

Eddie Hanlon of San Francisco has cu Philadelphia off his list as a fighting town. The Westerner, who was to have met Benny Yanger, the Tipton Slasher, in that city last night and Willie Lewis of Brooklyn next last night and Willie Lewis of Brooklyn next Wednesday night, has cancelled both matches.
The Quaker ringgoers have not forgotten the recent Root-Ryan flasco and are not in a hurry to pay their ducats to see a boxing contest just now. Hanlon fears a frost if he should engage in a battle and does not care to play to empty benches. Hanlon is willing to try his luck at Baltimore or any other city where fighting is allowed, and is satisfied to meet Yanger or Lewis for a ten or fifteen round bout.

Burdick of this city went under the knife. Burdick of this city went under the knife. Burdick submitted to an operation to remove a dialodged cartilage from the nose by Dr. Blanchard at Pittsfield, Mass. The operation was successful. On account of Burdick's illness all the bouts in which he was to appear for the next two weeks have been postponed. When Burdick gets well he will meet Kid Broad of Cleveland at Pittsfield.

Billy Roache to Referee Nelson-Britt Mill. The representatives of Battling Nelson The representatives of Battling Nelson and Jimmy Britt met yesterday at San Francisco, and selected a referee for their twenty round fight, which is to take place on Dec. 20. The man chosen is Billy Roache, formerly of this city. The Britt people wanted Fddie Graney, but Nelson for a while held out for Roache. He said, however, that he would yield to Graney if the latter would act. Graney declined, so Roache was named.

TIMELY BOXING TALK.

Battling Nelson's Match With Jimmy Britt and His Chances of Victory.

Battling Nelson is new matched to meet Jimmy Britt. The bout, which is to be held this month, was made without any trouble. The way the affair was arranged shows the business acumen of the rivals, for they realize what a great financial proposition the mill is. No matter who wins, if deductions do not go amiss, both will be liberally rewarded in a monetary way. Figuring on the popu-larity of the boxers, and taking into cosideration that Nelson's victory over Young Corbett is still on the lips of the sports, each ought to receive no less than $10,000 for his share, no matter how the combat may termi-

It can be fairly said that in meeting Britt Nelson will have the tussle of his career, but while Britt is undoubtedly a great lightweight the Dane's record equals his in every tween them so far as fistic standing is concerned. Nelson, if anything, looms up as Britt's superior at this stage, and the critic would not be surprised if Nelson entered the ring a slight favorite.

Just now he appears to have more than an even break. The only thing that his backers will have to fear is that he may not be "right" on the night of the mill. Nelson, it must be remembered, has done a lot of fighting lately, and the training which he has indulged in during the last year may have some effect on his system. He may become stale. Perhaps Nelson is a pugilist who thrives under constant action in the ring. This has been proved in a measure, for in overy battle he has fought he has shown up better than in the previous one. But the Dane's friends would be more satisfied if the encounter was two months hence, so that he had a chance to let up in his training. Britt has had a good rest since his affair with Gans. In fact, his fight with the negro was more of a warming up exercise for him than anything else. Nelson's contests with Hanlon, Canole and Young Corbett were long and hard ones. While Nelson suffered little punishment in his last scrap, he had to utilize all of his strength, just the same. He was not marked to any extent, but he was nevertheless under a strain.

Britt and Nelson are built on similar lines. They are rushers, aggressive, and gluttons for punishment; skill counts but little with them. It is a case of endurance on both sides The one who can wear the other down will be the victor. Nelson is the superior puncher His list of knockouts demonstrates this His list of knockouts demonstrates this. Britt is more of a body fighter, while the Dane makes his blows' abiding place his opponent's jaw. With Gans out of the way, so far as ever getting to 133 pounds again, the light-weight limit, this fight is technically for the championship of this class. No one will dispute the victor's right to the leading honors on this division. Many experts already look for a battle over ten rounds. Some think that it will not go over fifteen rounds. If it does, the outcome should be a draw.

The weight, 132 pounds at 6 o'clock on the night of the encounter, will be to Britt's advantage. Nelson at best is only a 129 pounder. He has been asked to get to a lower scale than this and has not failed to do.so. Nelson is a fighter who never quibbles over a few pounds. All he wents is to get the match on. Next Monday night at the Blue Island A. C., near Chicago, Jack Root is slated to meet John Willie, the heavyweight who made Jack O'Brien hug repeatedly in their recent bout at Philadelphia. They are down for ten rounds. This announcement is mostly made to demonstrate how fickle matchmakers are. It is not so long ago since the critics were condemning Root for his suspicious affair with Tommy Ryan. After this contest everybody said that no club would deign to give either Ryan or Root an opportunity to fight again in a hurry. Root was introduced at the last show of the Chicago club and was roundly hissed. The fighter made a speech to the crowd, and said that he was not wery reassoutlydeclared that hisintentions were honest; that he meant to win if he could, and that he was very sorry that the whole thing had occurred. Root's speech was not very reassuring, and the scrap is likely to attract but a small crowd. If it does, it will show that fistic followers have not forgiven Root, and that he must do more than make promises to ingratiate himself again with those who help support prizelighting by attending bouts in which he is one of the principals. Somehow, Ryan is held more culpable for the unf Britt is more of a body fighter, while the Dane makes his blows' abiding place his opponent to Antitoxin Treatment. Harry Van Brunt, 13 years old, was at his home, 671/2 South Thirteenth street, Newark, yesterday, having been discharged from the City Hospital in that city cured of lockiaw, which was in an advanced state when the treatment with tetanus antitoxin was begun. The boy ran a rusty nail into the ball of his foot on Oct. 10 and was sent to the hospital nine days later in convulsions and with his jaws rigidly set. Serum to the value of $200 was used. At first the boy had four injections daily and whenever that number was reduced there was a recurrence of convulsions. This continued for about three weeks, when there was an improvement. Less and less of the serum was injected daily as the boy's muscles began to relax. He was watched carefully for two weeks after his limbs became supple and was then discharged.

His is the second case in Newark in which a patient's system has responded to the antitoxin treatment.

The first successful case was that of Morris Levensohn at the Beth Israel Hospital in July last.

SEWED GIRL'S SCALP ON. Slender Hope for Anna Dougherty, Whose Hair Was Caught in Belting.

The Bellevue Hospital surgeons are awaiting with much interest the outcome of an operation performed yesterday upor seventeen-year-old Anna Dougherty of 279 Avenue C, whose scalp was torn off Thursday afternoon at the Eagle Pencil Company's factory, 710 East Fourteenth street.

Dr. George Woolsey, visiting surgeon of the ward to which the girl was taken, decided to sew the scalp to her head, in the hope that her case might be the second successful one known in surgical annals. The operation has been tried frequently, lat in event case, except one in Indiana four years ago, gangrene has set in.

The surgions say that gangrene will generally manifest itself within forty-eight bours. Late last night there was no indication of it.

SADIE WOLF CONVICTED. Keeper of a Brass Check Disorderly House May Get Ten Years for Abduction.

Sadie Wolf, who kept a disorderly house in West Thirty-second street, was convicted of abduction, yesterday, before Judge Newburger in General Sessions. The jury only took minutes to bring in a verdick. She ca sentenced to not a verdick. She can be sentenced to not more than ten years in prison.

She is the first disorderly house keeper in several years to be convicted of abduction. She is said to be wealthy and she made a strong fight. Fred House defended her. Assistant District Attorneys Garvan and Nott prosecuted.

The Wolf woman, who will be sentenced next Friday, was practically convicted

The Wolf woman, who will be sentenced next Friday, was practically convicted on the testimony of Katie Garfingle, a sixteen-year-old girl who was taken to her house by two men, Philip Altman and Charles Hirschkowitz. Altman pleaded guilty and testified against Hirschkowitz. Hirschkowitz was convicted and sentenced to nine years and six months in Sing Sing. The Garfingle girl is about to become a mother. She testified, among other things, to getting brass checks in the house.

I have labored indefatigably for 20 years in the field of Diseases of Men. My name and my reputation are known here and abroad. I treat nothing else. I cure my cases. I have thousands of living, breathing, honest and incorruptible proofs of my skill and knowledge in this city and in every State in the Union.

But all that I have done for 20 years does not compare in importance with my latest discovery—The Blixir of Life. Its powers and properties are as wonderful as those of radium, and more far reaching and practical than any known remedy. By its secret use old men can be made young again—can taste once more the vigor and fire of early youth—can throw of the shakles of feebleness—incompetency—and bid sterility farewell. This is not a Patent Medicine. It is only supplied to patient who place themselves under my care for either office or home treatment, and is specially prepared and adapted to each individual case as diagnosed.

If you are interested, write me to-day. Your letter will be held sacredly confidential, and my sealed reply (accompanied by absolute proofs) will startle you. DR. HENRY H. KANE, 136 West 34th Street, New York
